

TABLE OF CONTENTS (Next-Generation Management Development)

List of Figures, Tables, Exhibits

CD-ROM Table of Contents

About the Authors

Dedication

Introduction

Unfulfilled Needs of Organizations

Basic Description of the Book and Its Purposes

Benefits to Professional and Student Audiences

How All Readers Can Get the Most from This Book and Its CD-ROM

How MD and OD Professionals Can Get the Most from This Book and Its CD-ROM

Chapter 1: Preview of the Book's Next-Generation MD/OD Project

Introduction

Description of an Integrated MD/OD Project

Considerations for Designing a Highly Effective MD/OD Project

Concluding Remarks

PART 1: MANAGEMENT/INTEGRATIVE FUNCTIONS AND PROCESSES

Introduction to Part 1

Chapter 2: Initial Perspectives on Management Functions and Processes

Introduction

The Basics

The Initial Think-Work Functions

The Subsequent Implementation Functions

Beyond the Basics

Fresh Perspectives on the Managerial (Integrative) Process

Additional Perspectives on Management and Management Processes

Basic Obstacles to Effective Think-Work

Concluding Remarks

Chapter 3: The Analysis Phase

Introduction

The Basics

Definitions

Basic Analytic Steps

Four Major Reasons for Thoroughly Analyzing a Situation

Basic Rules for Effectively Analyzing a Situation

Beyond the Basics

Human Limitations and How to Compensate for Them

Analytic and Knowledge Management Tools

A Market Analysis / Strategic Planning Example

Concluding Remarks

Chapter 4: Planning Phase Functions

Introduction

The Planning Phase in General

Goal-Setting

Planning

Budgeting

Concluding Remarks

Chapter 5: Decision Making

Introduction

The Basics

Definition

Purposes/Benefits of a Decision-Making Process

Description of the Process

Basic Types of Decision-Making Situations

Types by Number of Alternatives That Can be Chosen

Beyond the Basics

Visualization Tools for Better Decision Making

Basic Phenomena That Underlie Ineffective Decision Making

Common Pitfalls and How to Address Them

Concluding Remarks

Chapter 6: Implementation Functions of Management

Introduction

Organizing

Staffing

Guiding (Planned) Activities

Controlling

Concluding Remarks

Chapter 7: Managing Time

Introduction

The Basics Regarding Wasted Time

Symptoms of Wasting Time (Ring D)

Cycle-Perpetuating Results (Ring E): Emotional and Physical Stress

Ways Many People Waste Time (Ring C)

Beyond the Basics

Major Causes of Wasting Time (Ring B)

The Most Important Underlying Causes of Wasting Time (Ring A)

The Analytic Approach to Managing Time

Concluding Remarks Regarding Part 1

Recommendations for Conducting the Superior-Subordinates Discussion, OD Application, and

Team-Building Sessions Following the Training in Program Module 1

PART 2: MANAGERIAL BEHAVIOR & DEVELOPMENT

Introduction to Part 2

Chapter 8: Managerial and Leadership Styles

Introduction

The Basics Regarding Motivation

Maslow's Hierarchy of Needs

Herzberg's Hygiene (Maintenance) and Motivator Factors

Basic Frameworks for Understanding Managerial and Leadership Styles

McGregor's Theory X and Theory Y Styles

Three Additional Styles

Tannenbaum and Schmidt's Model

Likert's Four Management Systems

The Ohio State Studies (and Grid Framework)

Blake and Mouton's Grid Concept

Miles' "Human Resources Approach" to Management

"Contingency" or "Situational" Theories

Ouchi's "Theory Z"

Concluding Remarks

Chapter 9: Major Non-Personal or External Influences on Managerial Behavior

Introduction

The Socio-Technical Context

Task-Related Technological Variables

The Natures of Subordinates' Jobs

The Natures of Managers' Jobs

Organizational Variables

Superiors' Styles

Colleagues' Styles

The Nature of an Organization

Types of Organizations

Growth of an Organization

Social Factors

Outside Forces and Factors

Technologies Involved

Marketplace Conditions

Economic and Business Conditions

Societal (Socio-Cultural) Norms

Subordinates' Individual Characteristics and Behavior

Concluding Remarks

Chapter 10: Personal Influences on Managerial Behavior

Introduction

Underlying Concepts

The Managerial Target®

"High Task, Low People" (HT,LP), Theory X, Authoritarian, or "9,1" Tendencies

"High Task, High People" (HT,HP), Theory Y, Participative, Team, or "9,9" Tendencies

Determining What The Managerial Target® Indicates About an Individual's Over-all Level of Managerial or Leadership Effectiveness

Perspectives on the Usefulness of The Managerial Target®
Concluding Remarks

Chapter 11: Unifying “One Best Style” and “Contingency/Situational” Theories

Introduction
Summary of the Case for “One Best Style”
Situationalism
Two Tracks to One: Putting Both Into a Single, Synthesized Perspective
The Developmental (and Participative) Aspects of a “High Task, High People” Approach
Concluding Remarks

Chapter 12: Summary of Socio-Technical Influences and the Implications for a Synergistic MD/OD Project

Introduction
Additional Contexts for OD
Review of the Program Phases
Review of Basic Considerations in (Integrated) MD/OD Program Design
Two Additional Socio-Technical Considerations for Designing an MD/OD Program
Concluding Remarks
Recommendations for Conducting Superior-Subordinates Discussion, OD Application, and Team-Building Sessions Following the Training in Program Module 2

PART 3: INDIVIDUAL PROBLEM SOLVING AND DECISION MAKING

Introduction to Part 3

Chapter 13: Individual Problem Solving and Decision Making

Introduction
The Basics
    Types of Problem-Solving Situations
    Approaches to Problem-Solving That Are Less Effective Than the Analytic Approach
    Phases and Steps of the Analytic Approach
Beyond the Basics
    Problem-Solving Styles and Orientations
    Factor-Related Ways to Improve Problem-Solving Effectiveness
Concluding Remarks
Recommendations for Conducting Superior-Subordinates Discussion, OD Application and Team-Building Sessions Following the Training in Program Module 3

PART 4: INTERPERSONAL RELATIONS AND SKILLS

Introduction to Part 4

Chapter 14: Perspectives on Interpersonal Relations

Introduction
Basic Personal Characteristics that Influence or Relate to Interpersonal Behavior
Initiation, Development, and Maintenance of Relationships
Interpersonal Styles on The Interpersonal Target™

Behavior in Social Groups
Interpersonal Conflicts: Symptoms, Types, Sources, and Resolution
Concluding Remarks

Chapter 15: Effective Communication

Introduction

The Basics

- Definition and Objectives of Communication
- Basic Sender and Receiver Inputs to the Communication Process
- Non-Personal Socio-Technical Influences on the Process
- Basic Symptoms of Faulty Communications
- Senders' and Receivers' Responsibilities for Effective and Ineffective Communication

Beyond the Basics

- Communication Styles
- Phases and Steps of an Analytic Approach to Communication
- Advance and Ongoing Activities for Continually Improving Communication Effectiveness

Concluding Remarks

Recommendations for Conducting Superior-Subordinates Discussion, OD Application and Team-Building Sessions Following the Training in Program Module 4

PART 5: TEAM THINK-WORK IN ORGANIZATIONS

Introduction to Part 5

Chapter 16: Guiding and Participating in Team Think-Work Processes

Introduction

The Basics

- Definitions
- Individual Advantages (Group Disadvantages)
- Group Advantages (Individual Disadvantages)
- Major Issues: Quality vs. Acceptance
- Symptoms of Faulty Team-Think Processes

Beyond the Basics

- Managers' Team-Think Styles
- Advance and Ongoing Activities for Continually Improving Team Think-Work Effectiveness

Concluding Remarks

Recommendations for Conducting Superior-Subordinates Discussion, OD Application and Team-Building Sessions Following the Training in Program Module 5

PART 6: LEARNING AND OTHER MANAGERIAL AND PERSONAL SKILLS

Introduction to Part 6

Chapter 17: Better Individual and Organizational Learning

Introduction

The Basics

- Factors That Influence Learning
- Modes of Learning

Methods of Learning
Phases, Steps, and Practices of a Structured Analytic Approach To Learning
Skill Development
Beyond the Basics
Learning Styles and Orientations
The Planning Aspects of Learning
The Learning Organization and Systems Thinking
Action Learning
Appreciative Inquiry
Reservations and Recommendations
Concluding Remarks
Recommendations for Conducting Superior-Subordinates Discussion, OD Application, and
Team-Building Sessions Following the Training in Program Module 6

PART 7 : SUMMARY AND SYNTHESIS

Introduction to Part 7

Chapter 18: A Unified Practice of Management™ Model and Its Implications for More Effective Organizations

Introduction

Unified Practice of Management™ Model: Integrated Processes and Models Portion

Basic Description

The Processes Involved: WHAT Managers Should Do

Implications for Better Managing Time

Implications for Better Managing Change

Implications for Better Managing Conflict

Implications for Better Managing (and Using) Knowledge

Major Implications Regarding Management in General

Further Implications for Developing Managers, Leaders, Their Personnel, and Their Organizations

Implications for WHEN to Do What it Takes to Maximize Managerial and Organizational Effectiveness

Implications for WHERE to Maximize Managerial and Organizational Effectiveness

Unified Practice of Management™ Model: Management Gurus Portion

Concluding Remarks

Recommendations for Conducting Superior-Subordinates Discussion, OD Application and
Team-Building Sessions Following the Training in Program Module 7

Appendix: Basic Descriptions of Major Management Guru's Concepts References